Buddy---The Clean-Up Squad
Is ComingBig Drive in Search of Disabled
Soldiers

By J. C. Barnes

Hey buddy! Did you get hit with a stray bullet while sojourning in France? Did the flu force you to do some unwelcome Bunk Fatigue, and leave your pumps in a rotten condition? Did you slice your index finger off while carving spuds for the Royal Chef while on K. P. Detail? Did you inhale some of the German gas, swear that you would only puff and never inhale again?—If any of these things happened to you while wearing the old O. D. and doing twelve to twenty-four hours a day for thirty per and chow and you find that since going back to the old job that you sorta have to dodge the boss to hold on, or if he has caught you at it and let you go and now you find that if you are lucky enough to get a job you can't hold it; why you are the chap your Uncle Sam is looking for.

Do you know that if you were wounded or disabled to such an extent that you can't carry on in the old job that you are entitled to Compensation and Vocational Training. Did you ever hear of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance or the Federal Board for Vocational Rehabilitation? Well, these are the two mighty big Governmental Bureaus that are working night and day trying to find chaps like you that had a little hard luck while in the service and to give you what your Country has provided for you.

Colonel C. R. Forbes, Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, has instructed all his fourteen District Managers throughout the United States to put on an intensive CLEAN-UP DRIVE which will last about three months in order to comb the country for fellows just like you, men, who have a disability as a result of their service in the World War and who do not know that they are entitled to aid.

Colonel Dallas B. Smith, the new District Manager of District No. 6, with headquarters at the U. S. Mint Bldg., at New Orleans, has organized three clean-up squads which will start work some time after the 20th of August. One squad will work Alabama, one Louisiana and one Mississippi. There will be an advance man who will go ahead of the squad about one week and who will advertise the coming of the squad through the press, by posters, hand bills, American Legion Posts, churches, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Postmasters, Red Cross Chapters and every available medium in order to get the good word to all the boys that may have a claim against their Uncle Sammie. So if you were lucky and came out better than you went in and know some guy that didn't come out "Jake" you look up your buddy and tell him all about this clean-up squad and what they intend to do. They will help him file his claim for Compensation or for Vocational Training, and if he is sick, there will be a competent doctor on the squad who will examine him and if he has never filed a claim for compensation, he will help him file it and he will then give him transportation and send him to one of Uncle Sam's Hospitals for treatment and keep him there until he is well.

Isn't that a fine thing? That is what the clean-up squad is going to do. So it's up to you and all the old gang that wore the kakhi, the blue and white to help find the chap that came out in a bad way and get him fixed up. Talk to your Red Cross Chapter, your American Legion Post, your Postmaster, your Chamber of Commerce, your minister; ask them—they all know about it. Read the papers, they are going to keep you informed, watch them closely for the itinerary telling you just when the squad is going to be in your town or county. Watch for the big red posters on the telephone poles and the little red hand bills telling you all about it.

Uncle Sam wants to find every man that has a claim against him so that he can pay the claim and if you haven't a claim you can help Uncle Sam just as you used to, by going out and finding the chap that has the claim and by telling him of the clean-up squad that is coming to help him.

"The Quinine That Does Not Affect the Head" because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary quinine and does not cause nervousness or ringing in head. Remember, the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE, 30c.

Death's "Pale Horse." Scandinavian peasants firmly believe in a "pale horse," which, when a man is about to die, comes and stands before the door of his house—white, shadowy and ghostly in the night. When his last breath has been drawn he must perform mount the spectral steed and ride away.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a general strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50c per bottle.

Strange Moslem Belief.

It is believed by the Moslems that at the Judgment day painters will be required to furnish with souls all representations of human beings which they have made. Failing in this or, deal, they will lose their own souls as a forfeit for their presumptuous imitations of the work of the Creator.

HAVE A PLACE IN THE SUN

Development of the South Sea Islands During Recent Years Has Been Wonderful.

The South seas are becoming important commercially. The island where Captain Cook was killed now does a thriving business in tourists and pincapples. The Fiji islanders have turned Methodist and, discarding war as a profession, have taken to producing copra. Everywhere among the island groups Western planters have planted coconut groves in which island peoples are learning the meaning of daily labor, for copra, or the dried meat of the coconut, is greatly desired in the West for making soaps and butter substitutes and the many other things for which vegetable oils are needed. Sharks' fins and a sea-slug called beche-de-mer are important articles of trade for the Chinese market. Mother-of-pearl, vanilla, rubber—tropical products of many sorts—are being demanded each year in increasing quantities. And great nations are finding in the markets of the islands a field for rivalry in the sale of manufactured goods. Sewing machines clatter in palm-leaf huts. European cotton prints and laces have superseded the native tapa cloth and European perfumes and cosmetics, are taking the place of the fragrant hibiscus and coconut oil.—Asia Magazine.

LUNGS GIVE PROOF OF LIFE

Evidence That Baby Was Born Alive or Dead Is Said to Be Infallible.

It is sometimes necessary to ascertain whether a dead baby was born alive or not, for the inheritance of a fortune or an estate may depend upon it. There are several tests, but the one that is crucial is what is known as the hydrostatic. This is based upon the fact that lungs which have never breathed will sink in water, while those that have taken a single breath will float.

To make this test the lungs must be removed with the heart attached. They are then placed in pure water at the temperature of the air. Next they are separated from the heart, weighed and replaced in the water. After being pressed with the hand they are again tested in the water. Each lung is now cut to pieces and tested again. The pieces are then squeezed as dry as possible and thrown back into the water. If each piece floats after the most vigorous compression the child has breathed perfectly.

NOT A COMPLETE STRANGER.

A man who used to tamp ties on a railroad section was summoned as a witness at an inquest. He had been cautioned that he must be very exact in his statements.

"Was the deceased a complete stranger?" asked the coroner.

After duly pondering the question, he replied: "He was what I should call a partial stranger."

"Either you knew him or you did not," said the coroner sternly. "There is no such thing as a partial stranger."

"Well," he answered, "I don't know how else to describe him. He was a one-legged man."—Union Pacific Bulletin.

REMARKABLE HEN.

A hen was shown at an Altoona (Pa.) show for which a record of 360 eggs in a year was claimed. Quite another kind of a record which was just as remarkable is claimed for a hen which was owned by a Mrs. Stover of the same city and which on several occasions is said to have laid five eggs in a day. When the fowl died, five hard-shelled eggs were taken from her, as well as one soft-shell egg and several small ones.—Chicago Journal.

REASON SUFFICIENT.

The mistress of the house caught a ten-year-old boy climbing the back fence, notwithstanding the fact the gate was open only a few feet away.

"Why are you climbing the fence when the gate is open?" she asked.

"Cause," he replied, "a boy down the street bet me I couldn't climb this fence and I came down here to try it."

Rate of Increase in Farm Tenants Falls

Out of every 1,000 farmers in the United States there were 381 tenants in 1920. In 1910 the number of tenants per 1,000 farmers was 370; in 1900 it was 353; in 1890 the figure had fallen to 284; and in 1880 it was noted to be 236. The increase since 1880 has been 61 per cent. To this increase in tenant farming the decade ending in 1890 contributed over one-third; the decade ending in 1900 nearly one-half, the decade ending in 1910 less than one-eighth; while the decade just closing contributed only one-thirtieth.

Though the tide of tenancy stands higher to-day than at any other time in American history there is apparent a very marked falling off in the rate of increase. —News Letter.
